

THE COMANCHE CHIEF

SEVENTY-FIRST YEAR

COMANCHE, COMANCHE COUNTY, TEXAS, OCTOBER 8, 1943

NO. 11

COMANCHE VS HAMILTON TONIGHT

District Court In Session Here;

Light Docket Promised With No

Jury Scheduled For Next Week

District Court convened here Monday and the grand jury was selected and the bailiffs chosen at the morning session. Judging from the number of complaints on file and the fact that no outstanding crimes are known to have been committed in the county since the last term of court with the exception of some robberies and burglaries at De Leon by ex-convicts, a short session of the grand jury is expected with a light docket of jury cases. No jury will be used next week, Judge R. B. Cross states.

Judge Cross said there is an unusually light civil docket. Divorce cases take the lead among the civil cases filed a number of these have already been disposed of.

Bailiffs selected by the grand jury include, Bob Dyson, door bailiff; John Gore, walking bailiff; and M. E. Stephens and O. A. Brazil, riding bailiffs.

Oswell Brightman of Comanche was selected as foreman of the grand jury and J. M. Holdridge of De Leon, secretary.

Other members of the grand jury are as follows: John Dillon, J. P. Whiteside, T. J. Kelley, Jr., A. H. Caraway, J. A. Lightfoot, N. W. Pounds, Earl Morris, Whit Sides, W. A. Lindley, D. C. Gilder.

Enjoys A Joke

Hon. R. B. Cross, pictured above, who is here this week from his home at Gatesville, holding district court, is not only recognized as one of the best judges in the State but has quite a reputation as an orator and an after dinner speaker. He enjoys a good joke and always has a new one when he comes to Comanche for a new term of court.

Here is his latest: An important bill had just passed Congress when word got around to the senator who had sponsored it that President Roosevelt was considering vetoing it. The senator at once went to the White House to discuss the bill with the president.

Mrs. Roosevelt was in the room with her husband. The senator in glowing language presented his arguments why the bill should not be vetoed. The president listened attentively but said nothing until the senator had finished, whereupon the president added, Senator, you have some convincing arguments and I am inclined to agree with you. The senator left happy in the thought that the bill was safe. Immediately after he left, however, another senator who opposed the bill entered the room and gave his reasons why he thought the bill should be vetoed.

Again the president listened with courteous attention and at the end said, "Senator, you have convincing arguments and I am inclined to agree with you." This senator also left the room happy in the thought that the bill would never become a law. Eleanor then turned to her husband and said, "Franklin, I do not think it is right for you to make each of these senators think that you agree with them when they hold opposite ideas. I think you should speak your own opinion." To which the president replied, "Eleanor, you have a convincing argument, and I am inclined to agree with you," and the president's wife smiled with the satisfaction of a woman who can manage her husband.

Prisoners Escape

At Camp Bowie;

Threaten Woman

Two escaped military prisoners from Camp Bowie died in a Brenham hospital Wednesday, after they were shot by a deputy sheriff. The men, identified as John Hageman of Terre Haute, Ind., and W. H. Parsons of Los Angeles, were in a group of eight who escaped from the Rehabilitation Center at Camp Bowie Monday. All of the prisoners have been recaptured.

The following article taken from Tuesday's Brownwood Bulletin, tells how Mrs. A. E. Dabney of near Zephyr refused to be "cowed" by the fugitives, when they threatened her with a gun.

Two of the eight Rehabilitation Center prisoners at Camp Bowie who escaped from their guards Monday afternoon ran into their first opposition after they had cleared the rifle range, from which they escaped, when they struck Mrs. A. B. Dabney at her home 2 miles northwest of Zephyr about 5 p. m. Monday.

Mrs. Dabney, in relating her experiences to her husband, who was absent from home at the time, said that five soldiers drove up to the Dabney home in an Army truck and that two of the men asked to use the telephone. After Mrs. Dabney led the way to the telephone, one of the soldiers jerked the receiver and cord from the telephone. Before Mrs. Dabney could recover from her surprise, the soldiers demanded the keys to a car which was parked in front of the Dabney home, thinking that it belonged to the Dabneys.

The woman defied the soldiers and refused to hand over the keys. One of the men then drew a revolver and again demanded the keys. Mrs. Dabney stood her ground and refused to hand over the keys or to tell the men that she did not have them. As both soldiers started to leave the house, Mrs. Dabney ran into the kitchen to get her husband's rifle. While she was loading it, one of the soldiers returned and as she attempted to strike him with the gun, he wrested it from her hands, saying he didn't want to hurt her.

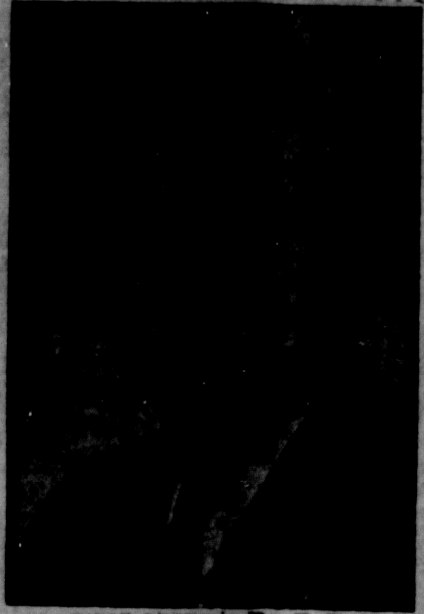

After he gained possession of the rifle, he ran outside. In the meantime, his companion, who had discovered that the car out front was not locked, started the car, a Buick coupe belonging to Capt. W. F. McDonald who, with his wife, lives at the Dabney home. The two men climbed into the coupe and drove away toward Zephyr. The three other soldiers who were in the group when they drove up to the Dabney home, left as the two entered the house and dashed away toward the Zephyr-Brownwood highway across Dabney's pasture.

Mrs. Dabney and Mrs. McDonald then went to Zephyr where they called the sheriff's office at Brownwood. Officers and bloodhounds were rushed to the Dabney home and one of the fugitives was captured within a short time. Three of the guns taken from the guards at the time of the escape were found in the Dabney pasture.

The McDonald car, a 1937 Buick coupe, had only three gallons of gasoline in the tank and the gasoline tank was locked. Dabney said in telling of the experience.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hart of Odessa are visiting her father, Bill Stewart.

Dallas Writer

Visits Comanche

Mrs. Ruth C. Barnett, of Dallas, Secretary for The Historical Association of American Women was a visitor in Comanche early this week. The Association which Mrs. Barnett represents is organized for or with a five-purpose plan, namely to compile, publish, distribute, conserve and exhibit an accurate record of the accomplishments of the women of America. The plan was conceived in Texas, where the women have so splendidly given of their time and money for the welfare of Texas, and also where so many things have been achieved by the women of the Lone Star State.

According to Mrs. Barnett, the work being undertaken by the Texas women has never been undertaken before, and Texas women are blazing the trail, as usual, in something which should prove to be a very outstanding contribution to the State and Nation for as she said, "What Texas women are doing, women in the other forty-seven states are undertaking."

The work is sponsored by outstanding women in every section of Texas, as history is not a local matter; every bit of local history becomes State and National history and the libraries over the State are very lacking in records of the achievements of women.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Barnett visited with Mrs. Phil Bertram, Mayor of Gustine, who is one of the three women mayors of Texas. Mrs. Bertram has been extended an invitation to become a founder member.

The headquarters of the Association are in Dallas, and the officers are: President, Mrs. Richard J. Turrentine, Denton; 1st Vice President, Miss Ruth Douglas, Denton; 2nd Vice President, Miss Ethel Foster, Sterling City; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Ruth C. Barnett, Dallas; Editors, Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, Austin, and Mrs. J. I. Ayres, Dallas; and Poet Laureate, Dr. Cosette Faust Newton, Dallas.

On October 27

The Texas Fine Arts Exhibit will be shown here October 27 in connection with the Fall Garden Club Flower Show according to an announcement from Mrs. Charles W. Gray of the Comanche Garden Club.

The pictures, consisting of oils and watercolors, are some of the best works of the most prominent artists in Texas, and are now hanging in the Ney Museum in Austin.

"This will be an excellent opportunity for those interested in art, especially school children, and those in nearby towns to see some really good pictures," says Mrs. Gray.

Matthew Mack Adams, 36, of Comanche, died early Wednesday morning in a Brownwood hospital as a result of injuries received late Sunday night in a car wreck, 7 miles from Comanche on the Comanche-De Leon Highway.

The Adams car turned over two or three times, according to Sheriff Perry St. Clair, who investigated the accident. The car was badly wrecked.

Adams received treatment from a local physician here early Monday morning, and was carried to a Brownwood hospital a few hours later. He was badly cut about the face and head, and suffered from internal injuries.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at the Comanchet Funeral Home. Interment was in Oakwood Cemetery. Rev. E. G. Gregory, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church of Comanche, had charge of the services.

He is survived by his wife and four children, Billie Louise, G. B. L. D., and Mackie Jean Adams of Comanche; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Adams of New Mexico, and two brothers and a sister.

The Comanche Indians meet the Hamilton High School Bulldogs at the local ball park tonight in a District 12-A conference game, and the opening home game of the 1943 football season.

The Indians will be making their second start of the season, having edged out the De Leon Bearcats 6-0 in the season opener two weeks ago. The Hamilton Bulldogs opened the season two weeks ago by battling the Clifton Cubs to a scoreless tie, and last week trounced the Hico Tigers 13-0.

New admission prices, which will be in effect throughout District 12-A, in all games, will be 50c for adults, 30c for students and 10c for children, tax included.

Coach Compton's locals will not be in top strength for the contest with the Bulldogs tonight. Richard Armstrong, 150-pound hard running back, who was injured in the De Leon game, has not recovered enough to start the game, but will suit up, and might possibly see some action.

Troy Kirkland, regular guard, has been moved to a backfield spot, and will fill in for the injured Armstrong.

Hamilton last defeated the Indians back in 1935 when they downed the locals 6-0, but the home team will be distinct underdogs in tonight's contest.

"We've been working principally on defense this week," says Coach Compton. "And hope that we'll be able to hold Hamilton's fast backs."

Sprouse and Murphree at the end positions, have continued to show up well in recent practice, and are expected to be the mainstays in Comanche's inexperienced line.

Co-Captains Jimmie Carpenter and Harold Ray Burks, both backs, are expected to lead Comanche's offense.

Probable starters will be: Ends, Sprouse and Murphree; tackles, Hicks and Dudley; or Butler; guards, Gore and Howell; center, Bowman; backs, Carpenter, Kirkland, Burks, and Marshall.

There were about 30 civilians in the tour and we put in a full day, beginning at 8 a.m. and it was well past 5 p.m. when we left the camp grounds.

Captain Frank R. Bonney, Camp Commander, was host for the day, and proved himself a past-master at entertaining.

Cot. Bonney was ably assisted by staff of some other 30 officers from a second lieutenant up.

We generally had thought of an army officer as some gruff, stern, hardboiled, person who had little time for developing the pleasing and social side of life.

These officers who were our hosts probably can be just that when necessary, but you would have to go a long way to get together a group of men who were more courteous, more friendly, or better entertainers than they.

They appeared to be just the type of men you would want as officers over your son, husband, or brother, if he were away in some distant army camp or on the battlefield.

They were clean cut, well educated, good mannered men who you felt would make a success of life whether in the military service or as civilian.

They had a way of making every civilian, even the newspaperman, on the tour, feel that we too amounted to something and were "somebody." The lieutenants and captains always addressed us as "Sir."

Camp Bowie, itself, taken as a whole, is a wonder.

When we remember that the 190,000 acres of land that now is included in the camp grounds were just fields, pastures, and ranches only three years ago, we are made to realize in what a big way Uncle Sam can do things when necessary.

Here, within 30 miles of Comanche, is a military camp of around 30,000 enlisted men and officers in addition to hundreds of civilians employed on the grounds.

We don't know just how many millions of dollars the buildings cost, but it must have been many; for there are thousands of them, and while they are supposed to be temporary, most of them are substantial.

The network of paved roads and streets throughout the camp represents other millions of dollars of investments as do the factories and equipments.

You can get some idea of the camp by driving through it, but it is only on an inspection tour like we have, when you are taken into the various buildings and an explanation by an expert is given as to what is being done, that you can begin to realize how big Camp Bowie is and what it is doing for the war effort.

Some times when a person thinks of government work, he thinks of inefficiency, of loafing, and loss of time and duplication.

We gained the opposite impression Friday on our tour at Camp Bowie.

Everywhere we saw signs of efficiency, of systematic, well organized work, without loss of motion.

Everybody had a job to do and seemed to be continually at it. There was no loafing or killing of time by employees.

Within the big military camp, there are many business institutions in operation, such as the bakery, the laundry, the shoe shop, the machine shops, the cold storage plants, and dozens of others.

Many civilian business men might be able to take a profitable trip from the management of these.

One is impressed with the efficiency and the lack of lost motion and loafing in these plants. There is no wasting among the employees doing work there.

Many workers have a particular job to do and if it should stop

"This is no place for loafers."

"Because you receive a commission relatively here, it is no sign you have an inclination to spend the day."

"The impossible, we do immediately; it takes us a little longer to do the impossible."

"If your services were not needed, you would not be employed here."

The laundry at Camp Bowie was erected at a cost of $450,000 and has 300 employees, several of whom are from Comanche. The workers are paid from $6 to $8 cents per hour and work 8 hours per day.

At no place did the workers seem busier than at the laundry. Every one has to finish a minimum of a certain number of pieces per hour in order to hold their job.

For example, one woman who is from Comanche, has to do the finishing, ironing a minimum of 40 shirts per hour. This includes ironing the cuffs and collars and down the front of the shirt. She said she averages 57 shirts per hour the day before.

If you should visit this laundry, you don't want to miss seeing the girls fold the sheets as they come off the mangle. One girl stands at each end of the mangle and each grabs an end of the sheet as it comes off and then they jump to the center of the space in front of the mangle and fold the sheet together, throw it on a table and jump back to their places at the end to catch the next sheet and repeat the performance.

These girls go through gymnastic exercises in the performance of their duty almost equal to those of forwards on a girls' basketball team and we wonder at their endurance.

We had always heard that there was a lot of waste around an army camp, but that wasn't the impression we got at Camp Bowie.

In the repair shops of the Ordnance section, we found men busy repairing everything from a GI wrist watch to a General Sherman tank.

These shops are equipped with the best of tools and machinery and there is a machine shop division where they make parts that they do not have on hand.

The mechanics seemed to be the best and they took an interest in showing the visitors about the shop and how they did their work. They are able to write their first

The teachers are soldiers, many of whom were teachers in civilian life.

In the rooms that we visited the instructors were teaching writing, spelling, arithmetic, and language at the time. The teachers were employing much the same methods of instructing as do our primary teachers.

The students were from 13 to 30 years old and most of them were from the North including such cities as Brooklyn and Philadelphia.

One of the instructors was from Brooklyn. He said that he did not know how so many from his native city got by the truant officers who were always on the job and never failed to nab him when he even tried to take a few hours off from school.

In the beginners' room, grown men were learning to read from words held up by the instructor on cardboard placards.

The men seemed eager to learn and there was no foolishness nor misbehavior in these school rooms.

There are 14 chapels at Camp Bowie, each erected at the cost of approximately $25,000.

We visited one of these. It was equipped with a pipe organ and the altar was so made that it could be quickly converted into an arrangement for Catholic services, Protestant services, or Jewish services.

About five or six chaplains use the same chapel, each alternating to the hours that they hold their services on Sunday.

The chaplain in charge on the day we were there was a Lutheran from Minnesota. In civilian life he was an instructor in Bible at St. Olaf's College, a Lutheran institution in that state.

In addition to these chaplains, there are two in charge of the German War Prisoners Camp, one a Catholic priest and the other a Methodist minister. The priest could be seen holding some kind of services out on the grounds.

The average soldier attends chapel about as often as he did church in civilian life, the chaplain stated. If he attended church at home, he does here, the chaplain said.

Very few who did not attend church in civilian life learn the habit in an army camp, said the chaplain, although there are some who do.

Many soldiers, however, who do not attend the services, frequently contact the chaplain with their personal problems. He advises with them on many of their personal as well as religious problems.

If a long butcher knife is broken, it is turned into a smaller paring knife.

Despite the high cost of food during war times, it costs only 50 cents per day to give an enlisted man three good meals at Camp Bowie.

To show us just what the enlisted men eat for the noon meal we had lunch at the 1500th Service Command Unit Enlisted Men's Mess. The menu consisted of hot rolls and lightbread, iced tea and coffee, fish, red beans, English peas, vegetable salad, butter, olives, and pickles, strawberry preserved, and apple pie.

The menu was not especially arranged for the visitors, but was an average sample of what the enlisted men have to eat every day and was planned three months in advance.

We left the table convinced that the American soldier is well fed and wondering where we can get another such meal for a quarter. (The meal cost the army twenty cents and we paid an extra nickel for service.)

The coffee was good and strong with plenty of rich cream.

Near the mess was an enlisted men's Day House and a pool room. In the Day House, which was nicely furnished, was a reading room with some well selected books and magazines and a radio and writing tables and plenty of good comfortable chairs.

Among the most interesting places visited in the afternoon were the army special training schools.

About five percent of the men who are inducted into the army cannot read or write. After they have been given some basic military training they are placed in one of these schools and put in the full 8 hours per day learning to read and write.

Adults can either learn faster than children or put in more hours at the job, for these soldiers are given about the equivalent of a fourth grade education within 14 weeks.

If they cannot learn to read and write in about 14 weeks and show no signs of being able to do so, they are given an honorable discharge from the army.

However, about 90 percent of them are able to reach the fourth grade level within 14 weeks and feel proud of themselves when they are able to write their first

CAMP BOWIE (Continued From Page Two)

The chapel remains open during the week as well as on Sunday.

There is one big library and several small ones at Camp Bowie
and all the club houses have reading material in them.

There are several theatres and field houses at the camp as well as several swimming pools and a number of tennis courts and athletic fields.

Within the last few weeks a war prison camp has been established at Camp Bowie and less than two weeks ago 2000 German prisoners arrived from Sicily and North Africa.

These German prisoners live in quarters that look much the same as those in which the American soldiers live.

The prison quarters are enclosed with double wire fences about ten feet apart and about 12 feet high.

The prisoners are not allowed to come closer than 10 feet of the first wall, markers being set up within the enclosure to indicate the deadline.

There is no one except the German prisoners within the enclosure. The American guards walk around on the outside of the enclosure and sit on the watch towers just on the outside of the fence.

These watch towers are very similar to the ones on the outside of the prison walls at Huntsville.

We were not allowed to visit the German prison camp as this is against the International Rules of War as established at the Geneva Conference.

We, however, passed by the camp on the outside and saw many of the men out in the yards.

Most of these Germans appeared to be rather young men and many of them were wearing only their "BVD's". This, however, was according to their choosing, as they have been issued other clothing.

These men are allowed to work
on the outside of the enclosure
if anyone wishes to hire them under army rules. They are not required to work unless they want to as this is against the International War Rules.

If the prisoners work, they are paid 80 cents per day, but the person who employs them is required to pay the prevailing wage scale for day laborers, which is now about $2.50 per day.

The U. S. Government gets whatever the difference in what they are paid and the 80 cents
that goes to the prisoners.

When the prisoners work out,
there is one guard to every three prisoners.

When the prisoners are not at work on the outside, they are paid by the Government in United States money whatever amount per month they drew while serving in the German army. This is also a rule of International War Law.

It is said that the average German private draws about the equivalent of 40¢ per day in our money.

We saw 21 of these prisoners march back from where they had been at work at the camp outside their enclosure. They had been pulling nails out of used lumber and getting it in shape for reuse at the camp.

Most of these prisoners were young and looked big and stout.

It was said that they were dirty and unkempt when they arrived at Camp Bowie and looked as if they had not shaved within some time.

After arriving at Camp Bowie and cleaning up and taking a week's exercise they now appear clean and in good shape.

Another interesting department visited was the Dental Clinic. It is said that about 4 out of every five men when they join the Army are in need of some kind of dental work.

The Army sees that these men's teeth are put in good condition, as bad teeth cause indigestion and loss of manpower on the fighting field, officers explained.

In the clinic there were some 30 soldiers in the waiting line to have their teeth fixed and about as many in the dental chairs receiving treatment.

Out of the thirty or forty men employed in the dental clinic making teeth or assisting with the dental work, only about five or six of the leaders hold dental degrees.

The remainder of the men were engaged in various occupations in civilian life, ranging from plowing and tool dressing to teaching school.

These men are taught to do
only one thing at the time and within a few days they become expert at that particular line of work. They stay at that one job for a long time unless they express a desire to learn the dental profession in which case they are allowed to advance in their work step by step, working several months at each job until they have worked themselves up through the entire clinic.

Thus, an ambitious young man can secure a $5000 or $6000 dental education without cost to him and at the same time draw a salary and render valuable service to his country.

Much the same opportunity is offered in the shoe shop. Here there are several hundred men employed, each doing one particular job and giving no concern to what is done to the shoe after it leaves his bench. He is, however, an expert at his particular job.

Here again, an ambitious soldier who wants to learn the trade,
is given an opportunity to work
his way through the shop and after the war is over will be an expert at that trade.

At the Red Cross headquarters
we found a busy force, not only rendering first aid to any that may need that kind of service,
but doing a lot of personal work
for the enlisted men.

The latter includes getting in touch with relatives, sending funds to relatives, and other help too numerous to mention and with which most of us are familiar.

The tough looking little Ford cars that we see passing through Comanche and which we call "Jeeps" are called "Peeps" by the armored division including those at Camp Bowie.

We made most of the tour of the camp in these "Peeps" under the direction of Major Herschal
Forester, Camp Internal Security
Officer, assisted by other officers.

A ride in these little cars was thrilling if a little rough and left you feeling the next day as if you had been horseback riding

without a saddle.

Perhaps the most thrilling part of the entire tour came when the group was taken into the camp maneuver area in peeps for a tank demonstration.

These armored force officers explained the operations of the 30-ton General Sherman tanks and the 14-ton M3-A1 light tanks.

We all donned coveralls and were taken for rides in the tanks.
Down in the holes and peeping out, we felt like we were almost in a real war as we jumped ditches, plowed through the mes-quite thickets and tore down full grown trees.

Both Shock and Dillon, as well as the Mayor and Postmaster of De Leon, really strutted their stuff
as they climbed out of the tanks on their return, trying to look as if they had not been scared half to death.

The program closed with a dinner at the Officers' Club with Colonel Bonney as host and with Captain David C. Kelly, Jr., a native of Texas, who was wounded in Sicily, as principal speaker.

The war is worse than the people know about, the Captain said,
and lacks a long time of being over.

Captain Kelly estimates that the minimum time to win the war in Europe will be 18 months with proper backing on the home front.
If that fails, the time will be much longer, he thinks.

The Captain's Company H, 26th Infantry Division was attacking a hill near Gela, Sicily, when a rifle bullet passed through his neck. He is now wearing his neck in a brace.

He is recuperating at the Mc-Closky General Hospital at Temple and came to Camp Bowie es-

Ladies' Ready-To-Wear

pecially to tell the group some of his experiences.

We are building up false hope
if we think that the Germans are already a beaten people, he says.

The Germans have fine equipment and it appears to be just as good in 1943 as it was at the beginning of the war, the officer stated.

They are well clothed and fed and are not discouraged. People who think so are sadly mistaken,
he emphasized.

The British soldiers are as good fighters as can be found anywhere in the world, he stated.

The British fighters did not think too highly of the American soldiers at the beginning of the North African Campaign, but are beginning to regard them more highly, he remarked.

The Germans are expert soldiers and we can beat them only with superior numbers and better equipment, he declared.

The Americans now seem to have plenty of equipment at the front and some of this is the best in the world, Captain Kelly said.

The morale of the United States
soldiers is good most of the time,
but they are depressed at times
by news of strikes and snail-shells on the home front, Kelley continued.

What really "burns the soldiers up" is to hear of the large and sometimes unreasonable salaries that some of their pals that they knew in civilian life are now drawing back home, he said.

He said that most of the privates had only $10 to $15 left after all the deductions, allotments, and expenses were taken out.

For such a soldier to learn that a boy he used to know back home who was then drawing the same salary as he was at the time, was now knocking down one of these big salaries made him "mad."

But there is nothing so disheartening to a soldier as to learn that people of his home community are not supporting the Bond campaigns, the U.S.O. and other drives which furnish material so badly needed by the soldiers.

He said that some of the soldiers would like to have the job
as strike-breakers in some of the strikes of this country.

The captain said that of the 37 officers who landed with his outfit in North Africa when the campaign began on that continent, only five were still on the fighting line. The remainder had either been killed, wounded, or taken prisoner.

He said that the casualties were heavy among our units that actually got into the fighting, although the overall loss sometimes seemed small.

Sometimes a reconnoitering expedition of ten or twenty men would often go out on an expedition and none of them return and later their dead bodies would be found where they had been blown up by some underground mine,
he stated.

There is lots of fighting by small groups, some of it hand to hand, in addition to the regular battles, and in these the loss is generally heavy, he stated, though much less than that of the enemy.

Captain Kelly said that the one desire of every soldier overseas is to get the job done as quickly as possible and get back home, but they would be satisfied with nothing less than a complete victory,
as they want this to be the last war within their lifetime.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday is Flag Dedication Day at the First Methodist Church in Comanche. We will dedicate the Christian Flag, the National Flag, and the Service Flag. The entire program Sunday morning will be dedicated to the honor of the young men and young women who are in the service of their country and our country. The least that we can all do is to be present in this service and do honor to these who have laid all upon the altar for this nation that we all love.

THE TEXAS POWER & LIGHT CO.

The Texas Power & Light Co. supplies energy to many war plants on their circuit—they also supply Camp Wolters, and for anyone to flit with a sentence in prison by playing with their lines is foolhardy—and had the person known that he could go to prison for 10 years for throwing that wire on the electric line, he probably would have chunked it at something else.

It is not believed that any attempt at sabotage was evident, despite the fact that for several days an effort has been made to locate the person that was seen throwing the wire near the South Oak USO on Oak Avenue. And the reason for this item in the newspaper is to acquaint others, either playing or attempting deliberately to disrupt service, that it may prove terribly costly—if they are caught and taken to Federal Court.

CAMP HOOD SOLDIER AND MISS STEPHENS MARRIED AT LAMPASAS—Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Stephens, formerly of Comanche, and now of Brownwood, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gene Stephens, to First Sgt. Clifford B. Sisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brannon Sisler of Oldtown, Md. The wedding took place Sept. 12 at 6 p.m. in the First Christian Church of Lampasas, with Rev. Chester E. Gleason reading the single ring ceremony.

The couple will make their home at Lampasas while he is stationed at Camp Hood. The Flag Dedication will be at 11:00 a.m. The message will be built around Acts 21:39 and the hymn, "America The Beautiful". The subject for the evening message will be "The Making of Man", Gen. 2:7. Our Sunday School will be at 10:00 a.m. You are cordially invited to all of our services.—R. B. Hooper, Pastor.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH—Bible School, Communion and Preaching every Sunday at ten. No evening service. The sermon subject for this Sunday, October 10, will be: "The Christian Ministry." At the request of their pastor, Doctor W. B. Gray, this scribe will be the guest speaker at the local Presbyterian Church Sunday night. This is another illustration of the fraternal type of unity for which Christ prayed and which we practice. The subject will be: "Christ's Major Contribution to Religion."—C. C. Klingman, Pastor.

SERVICES SUNDAY AT ST. MATTHEWS—There will be services at St. Matthews Episcopal Church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Stanley Jefferys of Brownwood will preach.

COMANCHE CIRCUIT

Rev. R. T. Wallace, pastor of the Comanche Circuit, will preach at Harmony Sunday at 11:00 a.m.; White Point at 3:00 p.m., and at Harmony at 8:15 p.m.

It is not believed that any attempt at sabotage was evident, despite the fact that for several days an effort has been made to locate the person that was seen throwing the wire near the South Oak USO on Oak Avenue. And the reason for this item in the newspaper is to acquaint others, either playing or attempting deliberately to disrupt service, that it may prove terribly costly—if they are caught and taken to Federal Court.

CAMP HOOD SOLDIER AND MISS STEPHENS MARRIED AT LAMPASAS—Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Stephens, formerly of Comanche, and now of Brownwood, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gene Stephens, to First Sgt. Clifford B. Sisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brannon Sisler of Oldtown, Md. Our Sunday School will be at 10:00 a.m. You are cordially invited to all of our services.—R. B. Hooper, Pastor.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH—Bible School, Communion and Preaching every Sunday at ten. No evening service. The sermon subject for this Sunday, October 10, will be: "The Christian Ministry." Creomulsion is so promptly because it goes to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germs laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. RUPTURE—Various complications and even death may result from an ill fitting truss or from the lack of some kind of support. We keep a large and varied assortment of trusses in stock at all times and can fit a large majority of rupture sufferers into comfort and relief right from our stock. Come in today.—Service Drug Store, Comanche. (6f)

THE TEXAS POWER & LIGHT CO. supplies energy to many war plants on their circuit—they also supply Camp Wolters, and for anyone to flit with a sentence in prison by playing with their lines is foolhardy—and had the person known that he could go to prison for 10 years for throwing that wire on the electric line, he probably would have chunked it at something else.

It is not believed that any attempt at sabotage was evident, despite the fact that for several days an effort has been made to locate the person that was seen throwing the wire near the South Oak USO on Oak Avenue. And the reason for this item in the newspaper is to acquaint others, either playing or attempting deliberately to disrupt service, that it may prove terribly costly—if they are caught and taken to Federal Court.

Local Tax Paying Time Now At Hand

Friday, October 1, State, County, School, City, and Road taxes become due and payable although owners of property have until February 1 to make payment without an interest or penalty.

Early payers, however, will save 3 percent by paying State taxes now and up until November 1. Tax Assessor-Collector F. A. Pettit had his tax roll approved some time ago and is issuing receipts both for property and poll tax payments now.

Poll tax payment for those over 21 and under 61 years of age is still a requirement for voting and a heavy payment is expected this year as both the State and National elections are due next year. City Secretary H. R. Jones, who is also tax collector for the City and the Comanche Independent School District, has his books ready and is making collections.

With more money in the county than usual and with the knowledge of the fact that many homes and farms and business buildings have sold in Comanche County on account of delinquent taxes against them within the last few years, more people than usual are expected to make prompt payment of their taxes this year.

Social Security And Other U.S. Taxes Now Due

September ended the third quarter of 1943 and all business firms and others who have employees must pay the social security tax, or employer's tax of 2 percent this month to the Internal Revenue Office at Dallas. One percent of this tax was withheld from the employee's salary and the other half is paid by the employer.

The withholding, or Victory tax, must also be paid this month. The withholding tax is 20 percent of the excess over certain minimums depending upon the number of children of the employee. It is all paid by the employee and already has been withheld from the salary.

Employers who have eight or more employees must also pay an unemployment tax. All of this burden falls upon the employer.

Parker Named Brown Assistant County Attorney

D. Phillip Parker has been named assistant County Attorney of Brown County, succeeding Conner Scott who left Oct. 1 for service in the Army, according to the Brownwood Bulletin.

Parker's appointment was made by County Attorney David Morris who is now an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve stationed in New York. Scott had served as assistant county attorney in the absence of Morris since June of last year.

Parker has been a resident of Brownwood for two years, moving there from Comanche where he had served four years as County Attorney in Comanche County.

...the other agreed. "Now, the House-Charles campaign—that was a real hum-dinger."

"Yes," his friend chimed in. "The things that the Clarke people used to tell on Hogg!"

"That's right but those things were true; but the lies that Hogg people would tell on Clarke—"

"They weren't lies, either," broke in the other. "They were the truth."

And they began waving their hands at each other and friends had to separate them—all because of a race for office 50 years ago.

Don't you think the Legislature ought to do something about there being so many legal holidays in war-time? Banks, for example, besides being closed on Sundays and also on Saturday afternoons, are required by law to observe a host of other days.

If you can't cash a check and put through a business deal on a Tuesday just because it happens to be Lincoln's birthday, then your making a living is interfered with—and that slows down your ability to pay taxes and buy war bonds.

Washington's Birthday this year came on a Monday. So from 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon until 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, there was no banking service. Cafes, drug stores and other business establishments had to stock up with enough money to make change and cash the salary checks of customers for almost half a week.

The work of the banks just stacks up and they have that much more to do when they re-open after one of these numerous holidays that we could omit during this emergency. The banks would rather work.

As for the State departments, this proposal might interfere with a few golf games and that would indeed be a great sacrifice—but, after all, this war.

Repartee:

Oscar Wilde, brilliant dramatist and poet, was a wit but he was not above appropriating the clever remarks of others. One day, Whistler (famous for the immortal painting of his mother) made a witty observation. Wilde exclaimed, "I wish I had said that." Whistler retorted, "You will, Oscar, you will."

"Char" Reed, Speaker of the National House of Representatives nearly half a century ago, was presiding when a Congressman declaimed, "In the words of Henry Clay, I would rather be right than President." Reed broke in, "The gentlemen need not worry; he will never be either."

Roberson Sisters

Miss Marie Shepard, an HCO member, and Col. George F. Shepard, commanding officer of the Marine Army Airfield School, were married Friday night in a surprise wedding before a small group of officers from the field.

Both are natives of Lawrenceville, Ill., where they were childhood sweethearts. They had not seen each other for 12 years until early in September, when Miss Shepard appeared in Manila to sell bonds at the invitation of Capt. Cal. E. Goodhall. The acquaintance of the colonel and Miss Shepard was renewed then.

Says The Brady Standard:

The 664 question of the day appears to have been propounded by the editor of the Rockdale Reporter, Wm. H. Cook, who appears to have access to the inner circles of the Brain Teasers Society. What Bill wants to know is: If an elephant bull can eat a bale of hay in a day, and a baby bull can eat a bale of hay in a day and a half, how long will it take a mama bull to eat a bale of hay?

Alphabetically Speaking

The letter "B" is said to be the most unfortunate letter in the alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger, and in hell all the time. All of which is true. Still, it is never in war, always in peace, and always in something to eat. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease, and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no life, no heaven. It is the center of honesty and is always in love. It is the beginning of encouragement and endeavor, and the end of failure.

He's Right About It

Jones was waiting for a bus when a stranger approached and asked the time. Jones ignored him. The stranger repeated the request. Jones continued to ignore him. When the stranger finally walked away another passenger said curiously: "That was a perfectly reasonable question. Why didn't you tell him what time it was?"

"Why?" said Jones. "Listen, I'm standing here minding my own business and this guy wants to know what time it is. So maybe I tell him what time it is. Then what? We get to talking and this guy says, 'How about a drink?' So we have a drink. Then we have some more drinks. So after a while I say, 'How about coming up to my house for a bite to eat?' So we go up to my house and we're eating ham and cheese in the kitchen when my daughter comes in, and my daughter's a very good-looking girl. So she falls for this guy and he falls for her. Then they get married, and any guy that can't afford a watch I don't want in my family."

Queen Names Galore

Queer and often funny are the names which colored people of the South have selected for some of their religious, social, and fraternal organizations. The following are taken from the records of charters of incorporation, issued by the Secretary of the State of Mississippi:

The Brothely Love Continued Undertakers and Sons of America; the Nuptial Tie Union; Cooperative Too Utterly Utter Marriage Aid Association; Grand Tabernacle, Independent Order of Brothers and Sisters of Love and Charity; Grand Fountain of Grand United Order of True Reformers of the State of Mississippi; the Connubial Anti-Matrimonial Society; Supreme Lodge of the United Reformers of America, Asia, and Africa; Supreme Lodge of the Grand Arch Temple of the Brothers and Sisters of America, Incorporated; Independent Fole Bearers of Australia; Grand Court of the Independent Order of Calanthe, Under the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court Annexed to the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Colored, of North America, South America, Europe, Asia, and Africa.

These two boys purchased 14 feed pigs and two registered Poland China pigs. Last week they sold 12 top hogs at a very nice profit.

They have their two registered pigs and two fat hogs left at this time. The two pigs are due to farrow pigs in October of this year. These boys plan to have registered pigs for sale by November 15. The two fat hogs are valued at $30 each, and the boys plan to contribute them to the family's meat supply.

The Thomas boys' projects were financed through the Farm Security Administration Club Loan, according to Roy Peace, FSA Administrator for Comanche County. The boys paid their loans off in full last week and their projects are now clear of debt and are self supporting.

It is mainly through the efforts of the club member that makes projects of this kind successful, however the supervisory assistance furnished by the club leader and the FSA Supervisor helps to safeguard the projects.

OURS IS A DUAL DUTY!
Filling your prescriptions with speed and accuracy is our profession... Supplying your drug store needs is our business. We apply ourselves to both of these functions conscientiously and with a desire to serve you in a friendly and efficient manner.

We maintain large stocks of medicines and supplies in all departments of our store, including our livestock and poultry department, which we feel is necessary in order to equally serve everyone in our trade territory.

We want your patronage and good will... and in return we offer you a complete and modern drug store in every way, plus a genuine appreciation for all your favors.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burt spent last Sunday at Gorman with a sister of Mrs. Burt, Mrs. C. Allen, who is in the hospital there.

Pvt. Harold Gene Hillhouse, who had an operation at Camp Wolters some time ago, is home for a month's stay.

Mrs. John Weldon Stevens, who has been with her husband at La Crosse, Wisconsin for the past year, is home for a visit while he is on maneuvers.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lawson and children, who have been living in Lamkin, moved to the Britain farm home southeast of town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Long of Dallas were visitors last week with Mrs. Long's mother, Mrs. Allie Jeffreys. Mrs. Long and her daughter, Tommie J. then left for New York, where they will enter Columbia University.

Husband: "I'm glad, dear, that you're impressed by all the explanations I have been giving you about banking and currency."

Wife: "Yes, darling. It seemed wonderful that anyone could know as much as you do about money without having any."
